Courts Testing 'Instant Replay'

Video Technique May Be Used In Appeals

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Judges hearing an appeal would be able to watch an "instant replay" of key portions of the original case through a television technique being tested in Michigan.

The proposal is similar to one suggested for referees dealing with disputed calls in sports events.

Douglas L. Sweet, coordinator of research and development for the Michigan State Bar, sees the possibility of official sanction for videotaping trials in Michigan "within two years at the soonest."

The bar held a preview of the future Friday. Bar commissioners, judges, attorneys and others connected with the legal profession were invited to watch portions of a trial put on tape at Mason's Ingham County Circuit Court.

Seven cases were videotaped through a $15,000 grant from the Michigan Office of Criminal Justice programs.

The most avid TV fan at the session was Ingham County Circuit Judge Sam Street Hughes, who presided at the sessions.

"We were afraid some of us might become ham actors," Hughes admitted. "But instead of being actors, we were very careful to be on our best behavior."

"But the four spotlights sure made my bald head shine," he complained.

Hughes, with 24 years on the bench, said he did not see videotaping entirely replacing the court reporter.

In certain types of cases, especially those where appeals could be expected, it would be very valuable, he said.

"You can learn a lot from watching the behavior of the counsel or the person on the witness stand," Hughes said. "And I remember one case in Detroit where the judge held his nose when he made a comment. This would not show up in the court report."

Videotaping would be useful

Officer Pulls Dad's Body From Wreck

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Ann Arbor police officer Michael Hitchingham was manning the desk Friday when a call came in about a fatal accident some three miles west of the city.

The victim apparently had been chasing a drunken driver with whom he had been involved in a minor accident. He was forced off Interstate 94 and crashed into a tree, according to witnesses.

State Police set up road blocks and captured the fleeing driver a few miles down the highway.

From the crash scene, a patrol car radioed in the license number of the smashed car.

Hitchingham recognized the number, went to the scene and helped pull the body out.

It was his father, William Hitchingham.

'LULU' GETS FOUR YEARS: Bertha Louise Roman, better known as "Lulu" of the television program "Hee Haw", has been found guilty of possession of marijuana Friday in Dallas, Tex. The hefty TV star was arrested and charged with a felony March 18, 1971, after police raided her Dallas apartment and found five and one-half pounds of marijuana. She was sentenced to four years in the Texas State Penitentiary. She is shown in court during the trial with her attorney who told the court that the marijuana belonged to a "boy friend" and not Miss Roman. (AP Wirephoto)

Standard Alloys Explosion Hurts Worker Seriously

A Michigan Standard Alloys, Inc., employe was listed in critical condition this morning from burns that Benton Harbor police said were received Friday night when a furnace exploded at the firm's plant on Mendel road.

Reported in critical condition at Mercy hospital was George Fadder, 22, of Post Office Box 49, Riverside. Police said Fadder sustained burns from molten metal over about 25 per cent of his body.

A second man, also burned in the explosion, was treated at Mercy hospital and released. He was identified as Charles Summerford, 26, of 860 Orchard drive, Watervliet.

Police said they were called to the plant at 8:27 p.m. to assist, and Action ambulance was at the scene. Benton Harbor firemen said this morning that they were not called. There apparently was no resultant fire, although police said the blast broke a water pipe in the building and lights near the furnace went out.

Police acquired this account from the company:

Fadder was operating a fork lift truck to drop copper wire into the plant's "number 41" furnace and an explosion occurred when the metal entered the furnace. Fadder jumped from the truck, started to run but tripped and fell about the time a second, larger explosion occurred. Police said it was the latter blast that spewed out molten metal and broke the nearby water pipe.

Police quoted a plant officer, Bruce Sokoe, of 4758 Sierra Way, Stevensville, as saying that there may have been some moisture on the unloaded copper and this possibly caused the explosion.

In an unrelated matter, Benton Harbor police about 3 p.m. Friday, reported that dense smoke that appeared pouring from the Michigan-Standard Alloys Mendel road plant was created a traffic hazard along M-139. Officers said the smoke was obscuring vision in an area as far north as the Whirlpool Corp. administration center. And shortly before 7 a.m. today, Benton Harbor police said they received a call from a woman who complained that smoke, allegedly from the same plant, was making driving conditions along north Paw Paw avenue (M-139) impossible. Police said the woman reported that she and another motorist had to pull off the road and stop.

The firm has been a source of complaints for several years, especially during times of high humidity. Police said that the company was notified of conditions Friday and the smoke problem abated.

HIJACKER LEAVES HOSPITAL: A man identified by the FBI as Richard Charles LaPoint, 23, is removed by U. S. Marshalls from Logan County Hospital in Sterling where he was treated Friday for an injured leg. LaPoint injured his leg when he landed in a wheat field near Akron, Colo., after he had bailed out of a DC9 passenger plane he had hijacked in Las Vegas. LaPoint was taken to Denver to be charged with Air Piracy. (AP Wirephoto)

Instructor Studies Subject First-Hand

BALTIMORE (AP) — Edward G. Gordon, an instructor with the state's motor vehicle rehabilitation program, was arrested Friday and charged with drunken driving, police say.

A spokesman for the state Motor Vehicle Administration said Gordon's duties involved presiding at evening safety classes for motorists who had lost their licenses due to drunk driving and other causes.

The spokesman said Gordon, 47, had a "very good record" in his five years with the agency, but would be relieved of his instructor duties and assigned other work pending the outcome of his case.

Sight Of One Eye Lost

A Stevensville area man who was struck about the face during an altercation this week has lost the sight in his left eye and faces possible loss of the right eye also, according to Berrien county sheriff's officers.

Sgt. James Leonard said an investigation is continuing into the assault Wednesday night against Len. W. Kenton, 54, of 6059 Cleveland avenue, Stevensville. Kenton was transferred to Hines Veterans hospital near Chicago from Berrien General hospital.

Treatment at the Veterans hospital is aimed at saving the use of Kenton's right eye, reported Leonard. The officer said Berrien General hospital stated the left eye was lost by the injuries.

Kenton was found wandering about Linco road near Cleveland by a woman passerby, who picked him up, drove to a phone and summoned help.

Lenard reported that the attack may have occurred in an auto near the victim's home, adding that two persons have been questioned. The officer stated that the weapon used appeared to have been a bottle or similar object. It is believed that Kenton has been employed as a farm worker, sheriff's officers said.

Democrats Planning Anti-Primary Moves

Statewide Local Vote Sought

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Top Michigan Democrats huddle Saturday, seeking to counter Gov. William Milliken's challenge to hold a spring presidential primary election.

Democrats need a statewide local vote for precinct delegates to county conventions. But they don't want a presidential primary, which would force top party figures into choosing early in the campaign from among numerous contenders for the state's labor-rich Democratic support.

They must decide on a united front before next week's Senate debate on a GOP bill that links both.

The problem for Democrats is deciding whether to accept the primary offer and how to turn it to their own use.

Under one proposal circulated earlier in the week by top Democratic legislators, county precinct convention delegates would be allowed to commit themselves to a single presidential candidate or remain uncommitted.

The theory is that relative strength of the various candidates would perculate upward through the various ranks of power, to the point where 132 Michigan delegates to the national convention at Miami Beach later this year would reflect the various ratios of support.

In a preliminary development Friday, House Democrats introduced and circulated a bill they planned to ask the central committee to endorse. It would then be pushed to a vote early next week to counter any action by the Senate on a GOP proposal.

The bill, introduced just as most lawmakers were leaving for the weekend, was distributed to all 110 members' desks to begin a five-day mandatory "lying over" period. Three days of it will have elapsed by the time most lawmakers return to get a first glimpse of the draft.

The meeting of Democrats at Michigan State University student union building symbolizes both the strength and the dilemma of the party's position.

MSU students, balloting a few months ago at polls set up in the union, dramatically changed East Lansing voting patterns.

In a fall municipal election they overwhelmingly elected three liberal, campus-oriented city councilmen who now make up a majority on the town's governing board.

All three earlier ran far behind primary contenders who dominated East Lansing balloting before students returned to

Nixon's Cool State Of The Union

Except that his focus necessarily has to be on a road elevated higher than that traversed by an individual state, President Nixon reported to Congress on Thursday that the U.S. faces problems and solutions in parallel to those drawn two days earlier by Governor Milliken.

The admonition from both executives to their legislative partners is to get on with the job of cleaning up last year's unfinished business before reaching out for more jobs.

In a puristic sense, this is stating politics rather than policies, but it is a welcome relief to listen to a State of the Union or a State of the State address free from soaring rhetoric and sweeping new proposals.

There was a time, greatly beyond the memory of many readers, when a State of the Union speech followed the matter of fact pattern in the President giving Congress the benefit of his intimate knowledge on major developments and recommending specific action by Congress if those laws already on the books were underpowered to meet a situation.

These speeches were dry stuff for the most part and only Teddy Roosevelt contrived to infuse a certain fire into the utterances.

Teddy's cousin, FDR, changed that format following his first election and since 1933 the annual State of the Union speech has sounded like a five-alarm fire call.

If taken at face value, they would have the country headed to wrack and ruin in the next five minutes unless something entirely new and different became effective immediately.

The fact of perhaps only five to ten per cent of those Presidential recommendations emerging in recognizable form has not discouraged this political overkill as a White House trademark.

Nixon himself adopted the same trademark for his past three messages, hitting a peak in his 1971 delivery calling for a "new American revolution."

Self apparently, the '72 version has the President deploying what has become an annual campaign speech in a different direction.

His comment that "never before have so many Presidential candidates been in the audience" sets the tone.

Discarding the overpromise inherent in the preceding 39 Union messages, Nixon reminded Congress, basically on opposition forum, that it and the White House could best serve the public if Congress would move along on cleaning up last year's messy calendar.

This is a polite modification on Truman's jab at a "do nothing" Congress," but the reaction from Democratic circles indicates Nixon shot a pretty straight arrow.

The one plainly discernible partisan shot was in jumping on the bandwagon which wants to repeal or greatly reduce the local property tax as a revenue mainstay in local government.

It remains to be seen if the absence of the glittering promise and the sweeping proposal will accomplish the desired result..

Promising the moon and delivering a stale cheese are standard political props.

Nixon has decided '72 is not the year for him to feed the habit.

This is a switch for a candidate, one we would like to see more of in the future.

Crying wolf has its uses, but as the old fable shows, it can be repeated once too often.

Anglo-French Accord

After Prime Minister Edward Heath signs Britain's Treaty of Accession to the European Economic Community today, the next step in Europe building may well be some form of Anglo-French agreement on nuclear weapons development. Heath wrote last April that "the (EEC) enlargement negotiations in Brussels are not connected with defense or nuclear issues." However, the French now propose that the United States allow Britain to share its nuclear know-how with them.

The French argue, with some justification, that the cost of having two EEC powers maintain separate research and development centers is unrealistic. Britain and France both currently are working on warheads and delivery systems that neither can afford.

Indeed, the question being asked by European strategists is, how can Europe defend itself if America decides to reduce its military role? Julian Critcheley, writing in the London Times, argues that "what is unsatisfactory about the present situation is the absence of France from nuclear planning and joint consultation." However, the British are prohibited from sharing their knowledge with the French under the terms of the U. S. McMahon Act.

"Without active, continuing British interest there probably would have been no atomic bomb to drop on Hiroshima," wrote Gen. Leslie R. Groves. British scientists were intimately involved with the work at Los Alamos, N. M., and Oak Ridge, Tenn. Until the arrest in 1945 of Alan Nunn May, a British nuclear scientist who gave the Russians important details about the making of the A-bomb, Washington kept the channels to London open. The weakness of British security, however, led the United States to refuse any further sharing of nuclear secrets. Disclosure to a third power of any secrets which had been shared was prohibited under the McMahon Act (the Atomic Energy Act of 1946).

Britain then went on to develop its own atomic bomb, which was successfully tested in Australia in October 1952, and built up a credible deterrent force. A decade later, under President Charles de Gaulle, France followed a similar and even costlier course.

France has spent about $12 billion over the past 13 years developing a nuclear strike force that now consists of 36 Mirage IV bombers, nine "Pluton" ballistic missiles, and a nuclear submarine with a short-range delivery system. Britain, on the other hand, has spent $4.5 billion on a deterrent force of four submarines, each equipped with 16 Polaris missiles, and several squadrons of Vulcan bombers. The difference in expenditures can be explained largely by American sales of weapons to Britain.

The French are not so naive as to suppose that they could persuade the U. S. Congress to repeal the McMahon Act in the near future. They are taking the long-range view that in five years, when both England and France must plan a "new generation" of weapons for the 1980s, the Americans may be more amenable to sharing past secrets.

It is toward this end that Jean-Francois Deniau, an EEC commissioner, wrote in Le Monda a few weeks ago that "the revision of the McMahon Act must be one of the basic preconditions for a serious dialogue with the U. S." That was but the opening salvo of a campaign that will extend well into the mid-1970s.

Stud Tires

The annual hassle about stud is on. Tires, not poker, that is.

Some states have outlawed them, or threatened to, others have passed legislation permitting their use during certain months.

Stud tires have been involved in controversy ever since they appeared. The original arguments revolved about whether they were effective. Now some officials contend they are too effective in increasing wear on roads.

Anyway, when legislators are arguing about stud tires they are not engaged in increasing taxes.

Firm Offers Refunds For Soup Bowls

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Ohio manufacturer says it will refund the purchase price and advise buyers to destroy some 200,000 soup bowls sold through a Campbell's Soup promotional campaign which the Food and Drug Administration says may contain metals.

Edward Willis, president of Americana Art China Co. of Sebring, Ohio, said Friday his company has a computerized list of persons who purchased the bowls for two Campbell's labels and 75 cents.

The FDA said earlier Friday the bowls may contain cadmium and lead. The agency said results of testing should be available Saturday.

Marines Get Green Light For Exercise

GEORGETOWN, Maine (AP) — Marines have been given approval by a federal judge to land today at Reid State Park for Operation Snowy Beach.

U.S. District Court Judge Edward T. Gignoux on Friday denied a petition by a group of environmentalists for an injunction against the operation.

The group called Citizens for Reid State Park had claimed in two days of hearings this week that the landing by 900 Marines and a four-day bivouac would harm the park's ecology.

The landing is connected with a 15,000-man exercise designed to test equipment and train personnel in cold weather operations.

PROSE WRITER ANSWERS POET

Do you folks know that Booflanger man, whose first name is Chet? He writes all those poems for the Geritol set. Well, he wrote a poem that was printed here lately and I just want to say I admired it greatly.

I'm not a poet, God knows, so I think I'll stick to writing in prose, but this poem here in case you forgot was about some guy who made old Booflanger hot. This feller was always running folks down and it got so bad he was know'd all around. But Booflanger didn't care when he was attacked 'cause he had a snappy answer to give him right back. He said he believed this guy's running him down was the best compliment he'd ever received, and to make no mistake, that a man's often judged by the foes that he'd make.

Booflanger's sure got a way with a word 'cause ain't that the best put-down that you ever heard? Though Booflanger's no Shakespear or even Longfellow he's still smart like me or I got the wrong fellow. So for all of us folks who find the comics too tough, please print lots more of that Booflanger stuff.

CORRECTS HIS LETTER

I would like to correct the editor on the way my letter was published in the News-Palladium and the Herald-Press on January 13, 1972.

The last part of the letter should have read: Democracy hyphen Greek hyphen Demos equals people . . . . . Kratein equals to rule . . . . . or people to rule, or majority rule.

Republic hyphen Latin hyphen Res equals an affair, interest hyphen Publicus equals public . . . . or, public interest. Constitution hyphen A system of fundamental principles for the behavior of rational and social beings. From Constituere hyphen to establish, Con equals together and stauire equals to set.

In writing my letter on the typewriter I used - as a hyphen and as an equal, or a divider or to mean "meaning".

Mental 'Illness' Soviet Catch-All

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Those who thought they saw a trend in the Soviet Union toward human rights must have been shocked by the seven-year labor camp sentence plus five years exile given 29-year-old Vladimir Bukovsky.

For Bukovsky's case illustrates Moscow's predilection for putting political protesters in mental hospitals and punishing harshly those who talk too much about this practice.

In 1963, Bukovsky spent 15 months in a mental ward for having two photocopies of "The New Class,.. a controversial book by Yugoslav author Milovan Djilas. In 1966, he spent nine months in a mental ward for organizing a Moscow demonstration demanding an open trial for writers Andrei Sinyavsky and Yuli Daniel. In 1967, he was sentenced to three years in a labor camp for his part in another demonstration for imprisoned writers.

In March, 1971, Bukovsky was arrested a few weeks after sending abroad an open letter asking that Western psychiatrists investigate his charges that Soviet authorities were using mental hospitals to detain nonconformist intellectuals. He provided 150 pages of documentation.

Bukovsky was held incommunicado for nine months, part of that time in the Serbsky Psychiatric Institute, then charged with "anti-Soviet agitation and propaganda" and sentenced this month (January, 1972) in a one-day trial.

It is not known exactly how many sane men and women are in Soviet mental hospitals because of peaceful protest. Men close to the problem have been able to identify 200. Most are with little influence.

Bukovsky, in his stays at special mental hospitals, has estimated that roughly half the patients are political prisoners.

Bukovsky has described some of his fellow mental ward associates. One was a Frenchman so devoted to communism he had emigrated to the Soviet Union, where he found work at a shoe factory. Disturbed by the low pay, he had urged workers to strike, saying communism would never condemn the working class fighting for its rights. He was sent to the asylum for three years.

Another patient was an Australian Communist, who, becoming disillusioned, had decided to return home. The authorities told him that because of his Latvian origin he was a Soviet citizen and he was put in the asylum for contacting foreign embassies.

The most publicized men sent to mental hospitals for silencing are former Maj. Gen. Grigorenko, for 17 years director of research at the prestigious Frunze Military Academy, and Zhores Medvedyev, the noted biologist. Grigorenko actively protested Moscow's refusal to allow the Tartars to return to their homeland and strongly opposed the invasion of Czechoslovakia. Medvedyev held controversial views on the management of Soviet science. He was released after strong protests by influential scientists.

Catholic Clerics Distort Facts

Both official and unofficial Catholic spokesmen continue to make statements regarding the Vietnamese War which simply are not supported by the facts. Writing in the weekly magazine America, Msgr. Marvin Bordelon, said to be the Roman Catholic Church's chief American expert on international relations, declared the Vietnamese War to be now "morally indefensible," since it violated, he said, the church's traditional "principle of proportionality" — i.e., it now and in prospect is productive of more evil than good — and also because it violates the requirement that warfare make "an adequate distinction between soldier and civilian."

The monsignor's condemnation is only the latest of such statements by prominent Catholics. It echoes, though in stronger terms, the statement of the Roman Catholic bishops last November. And Fr. Robert Drinan, the Jesuit Congressman from Massachusetts, and not a man to be outdone on this issue, chimed in with his own comment the other day.

"President Nixon is a barbarian," said Drinan. "Never in our history have we seen anything like the shamless strafing of innocent civilians in Indochina the five days before Christmas."

In light of such statements, you would have a right to think that President Nixon is perpetrating in Indochina a stepped-up version of the World War II raids on Dresden, Rotterdam, Coventry, Dusseldorf, and Tokyo, not to mention Hiroshima. Thinking of the civilians killed by the World War II bombings, by the way, you notice the intellectual scrupulousness of Drinan's "never before in our history" introduction to his judgment of Nixon.

All these comments are completely at variance with the facts in Vietnam — as, indeed, these ecclesiastical spokesmen must be aware. The increased numbers of air strikes during the last year have had, in the vast majority of cases, the supply and infiltration complex known as the Ho Chi Minh Trail as their target. Thus, the concentration of attacks has been especially heavy in southern Laos. In 1971, in an often quoted figure, about 400,000 tons of bombs were dropped on the trail complex — more than twice the amount dropped on Japan during World War II.

Contrary to Msgr. Bordelon, this is anything but indiscriminate bombing. In fact it is one aspect of a highly sophisticated and almost purely military engagement. The bombing is employed in conjunction with an array of electronic sensors, computers and various kinds of technology, and an array of specialized bombs, mines and other devices. The goal is to choke off the flow of supplies to the Communist troops fighting in the south.

Teachers' Union Asks BH Board To Resign

Outgrowth Of Salary Hassle

The Benton Harbor Education association has called for the resignations of all members of the board of education.

A release today from the BHEA said the action reflects "teacher frustration over the Benton Harbor board of education's refusal to accept a state appointed fact-finder's report."

The motion calling for resignation of board members was passed last Monday at a mass meeting of the BHEA, according to the release. The motion stated that: "The BHEA calls for the mass resignation of the Benton Harbor board of education for the good of the community."

The board and BHEA, bargaining agent for the district's 540 teachers are at an impasse on contracts after 10 months of negotiating which included state appointment of George T. Roumell, Jr., to conduct fact-finding.

The BHEA said the board refused to abide by the fact-finder's report, although teachers did reluctantly.

Mrs. Mary Jackson, BHEA president, said: "The time has come for the board to stop playing games with the future of the professional educators of the community. The teachers are rapidly reaching their maximum frustration level."

Oliver Rector, board president, said he personally would like to have seen negotiations settled four or five months ago.

"If they feel the board is not doing its job," said Rector, "let them go take it to the people with recall petitions."

The fact-finder's report called for a $7,650 base salary, an increase of $150, retroactive to August, full family health insurance and planning time for elementary teachers starting next September. He also recommended a base salary of $7,975 starting next school year.

ROBERT E. WILLIAMS

Two local corporate economists and a Detroit bank economist will forecast the economic outlook for 1972 at 6:30 p.m. Feb. 2 at the Ramada Inn, Benton township.

The conference is sponsored by the Twin Cities Area Chamber of Commerce with Robert E. Williams, president and general manager of Benton Harbor Engineering and Chamber vice president, as the moderator. Powers will direct his remarks to the business investment sector. Powers was previously manager of market planning for Clark's Industrial Truck division, Battle Creek. His career as an economist includes service with Sperry Rand corporation and the board of governors of the Federal Reserve system. He is a graduate of George Washington university with a bachelor's degree in economics.

New Vote Slated On Transfer

Benton Harbor board of education will meet in special session this afternoon to reconsider the board's position on appearance Monday at a state hearing on a property transfer of West North Shore-Lafayette to St. Joseph district. The tie meant the motion failed to carry. One board member was absent from the meeting.

At the state hearing West North Shore-Lafayette will appeal a decision of the Berrien Intermediate board rejecting the request for transfer from Benton Harbor to St. Joseph school district.

Rector said earlier this week no special meeting has been scheduled on the matter and he didn't know if one would be held.

The Benton Harbor board in the past has opposed property transfers out of the district.

Tri-County Health Group May Have Name By March

BERRIEN CENTER — A yet-unnamed three-county health association may have a name for itself in March as a result of a meeting at Berrien General hospital here this week.

Bruce Miller, a member of a health study group in St. Joseph working with the unnamed Berrien, Cass and Van Buren health association, said the association's house of delegates voted Thursday night to give the association's 13-member executive committee the task of drafting the group's name, bylaws and constitution.

The house of delegates expects to meet again March 2 at Lake Michigan college to accept, reject or request changes in the name, bylaws and constitution if ready then, Miller reported.

The house of delegates Thursday also picked as temporary chairman Benton Harbor Atty. Ronald Sondee and chose as chairman of the executive board Cass County Prosecutor Herman Saitz of Cassopolis. The board has 12 other members, four each from Berrien, Cass and Van Buren.

Delegates voted to hold future meetings at LMC on the first Tuesday of the month, but no meeting in February, Miller reported.

Delegates also discussed closer ties with the personal health committee of a health planning agency, the Southwestern Michigan Comprehensive Health Planning association.

The unnamed association, made up of health service consumers and providers, is aimed at upgrading the quantity and quality of health care in the three counties.

First-Place BH Avenges Only LMAC Loss

By JIM DeLAND
Sports Editor

MUSKEGON — Benton Harbor's basketball team has come a long way in the past seven weeks.

Coach Earl McKee's Tigers demonstrated just how far they have traveled here Friday night as they gained revenge for their only Lake Michigan Athletic Conference defeat with an impressive 83-56 conquest of Mona Shores.

Just 49 days ago the Tigers were dead last in the LMAC standings after dropping a 67-62 decision to Mona Shores in the season opener, but today they hold undisputed possession of first place after rolling to their sixth straight conference victory.

"How did you like that?" McKee grinned after watching his team sink the Sailors with a 30-point explosion in the fourth quarter. "We needed that . . . we needed a good score. Now we can sit down and do a little planning. That was the one we had to have."

The Tigers achieved their objective by simply overpowering Mona Shores with superior shooting and rebounding and a typically balanced attack that came within an ace of putting six players in double figures.

Guard John Hunt led the way with 22 points and 10 assists while Willie Lacy scored 19 points, substitute Dave Williams 11, James Jackson and Don Childs 10 apiece and Anthony Wooden nine.

Wooden also pulled down 13 rebounds, Jackson 12 and Lacy 10 as the Tigers gave the Sailors a 50-24 beating on the boards.

Mona Shores' only effective weapon was the shooting of forward Mike Regeczi, who hit 10 of 17 shots and led both teams in scoring with 24 points. He was the only Mona Shores player in double figures and the only one who had more baskets than free throws.

"They never solved our zone. . . they never got the ball inside," McKee noted accurately of the Tigers' rapidly-improving 1-2-2 alignment that forced the Sailors to rely almost exclusively on outside shooting by neutralizing the pattern offense they used so effectively in their earlier victory over Benton Harbor.

As a result, the Sailors were able to hit only 17 of 53 field goal attempts for a .321 average that was far from enough to do the job last night.

Benton Harbor hit only 5 of 18 shots in the first quarter but swished 29 of 52 (56 per cent) the rest of the way for a final average of .486.

The Tigers jumped off to a quick 11-5 lead, but Mona Shores came back to tie it four times, the last at 19-19 on a layup by guard Frank Howell with 5:10 left in the second quarter. The Sailors didn't get another basket in the remainder of the first half, however, as the Tigers pulled out to a 34-26 lead.

A string of eight straight points in the third quarter pushed the margin to 15 points at 46-31 and the Tigers erased any doubt by outscoring the Sailors 11-2 in the first two minutes at the final period to surge ahead 64-40.

At the end it was such a complete runaway the Tigers could afford to laugh off an incorrect call that gave Mona Shores an extra point in the third quarter.

The disputed play was a defensive goaltending call against Jackson for touching the ball while it was still on the rim after a free throw by Howell. Instead of just awarding the single point for the free throw, the officials ruled it a missed free throw and gave Howell two points on the goaltending.

THE WORLD OF Sports

Benton Harbor also had a certain amount of foul trouble with Childs and Lacy, but managed to overcome it with help from the bench, especially from Williams, who hit 4 of 5 shots and grabbed nine rebounds. Childs played less than half the game after drawing three fouls in the first quarter and Lacy sat out the entire fourth period after picking up his fourth personal just before the third-quarter buzzer sounded.

"When we got fired up and started running in the second half it was all over," McKee said, "but there's no reason we couldn't have been running from the opening tip. We were just sluggish in the first half — I think that's why we got some of those fouls. We were going for the first fake and then reaching back to cover up."

The Tigers, now 7-2 for the season and 6-1 in the LMAC, get a one-week break from conference play with games against Kalamazoo Loy Norrix Tuesday at the Colfax gym and at South Bend Washington on Saturday.

Mona Shores now is 4-2 in the LMAC and 6-3 overall.

Benton Harbor's undefeated junior varsity team rolled to its seventh straight victory in the preliminary game, beating the Mona Shores reserves 78-58.

Gary Philips led the balanced attack with 20 points while Andrew Atterbury tallied 15, Napoleon Redmon 14, Jettie Rice 12 and David Adkins 11.

Bears Chilled By Northern

Ice-Cold Shooting In Igloo Dooms St. Joe, 79-57

By JOHN VANDEN HEEDE
Staff Sports Writer

PORTAGE — St. Joseph cagers got a chilly reception at the Portage Northern igloo Friday night.

Coach George Gaunder's Bears hit a frigid 29 per cent of their field goals and just 47 per cent at the free throw lines while dropping a crucial 79-57 Big Six decision to the Portage Northern Huskies.

The loss left St. Joe at 2-3 in the conference and all but eliminated Bear title hopes.

"It primarily boils down to shooting," commented Gaunder. "Our turnovers were again low with 11 and we put up 87 shots, which is more than in past games. But (Packy) Ryan was only 4 for 25, (Craig) Kolberg 2 for 11 and (Mark) Schnese, who has a good eye, just 1 for 8.

"I'll never shoot again on the day of a game. I'll nail the door shut on the gym on the day of a game." Because St. Joe had no school Friday, Gaunder had his Bears turn out for a morning shooting session.

While St. Joe couldn't buy a basket in its worst shooting night of the campaign, Northern's Huskies felt right at home in their round-roofed gym.

The Huskies kept their fans warm with a 57 per cent field goal mark and a 75 per cent average in charities. Ken Groggel, a 6-6 center, scored 27 points and pulled down 23 rebounds to easily emerge as the game's outstanding player. Bill Roberts, Ted Carlton and John Fossen all added 15 points apiece.

"That was probably the best we've played this year," noted Huskie coach Bud Fossen. "This is the first time we've put together four pretty good quarters.

"I thought that overall the kids played good defense. They generally had a hand in their face when they shot. Rebound-wise I doubt whether St. Joe had many second shots at the basket until its flurry in the third quarter."

Respective team charts gave Northern an overwhelming 47 to 27 edge on the boards. Don Asselin was high for the Bears with seven.

St. Joe never led after missing its first five shots. The Bears scored just two points in the first four minutes of action and trailed 10-2 midway through the first period.

St. Joe fought back to within five points at 22-17 early in the second period, before hitting another cold spell. During the next 3½ minutes, the Huskies tallied 13 of 15 points for a 35-19 edge.

Northern left the floor at halftime leading 39 to 28 with a 61 per cent shooting mark. St. Joe was only connecting at a 27 per cent pace.

In the third frame, the Bears missed their first six shots and the Huskies raced off to a 58-35 advantage. It was at this point that St. Joe substitutes came up with a brief rally which cut the margin to 59-47 entering the last quarter.

But Northern changed from a man-to-man to a zone defense at that point to stop the Bears cold. "I had to change the tempo of the game," added Fossen on the defensive change. "We were flat footed for about 2½ minutes."

St. Joe ended up meshing 25 of 87 field goals and 7 of 15 free throws without coming up with a double figures scorer. Northern hit on 29 of 51 from the floor and 21 for 28 in the

Lancers Run Past Eddies; Face South Haven Tonight

By JERRY DYKSTRA
Staff Sports Writer

Lakeshore leaped another hurdle Friday night in quest of the Blossomland blue ribbon.

The Lancers, outscoring Edwardsburg 55-26 in the last half, raced past the visitors 93-60 to chalk up their fifth straight Bud victory of the season without a loss.

But now the Lancers face another obstacle tonight when they travel to South Haven to meet the the Rams, the sixth rated team in the latest Class B poll.

"We beat them earlier in the season, so they'll be looking for revenge tonight," commented Lakeshore coach Lloyd MacTavish. "It's only a nonleague game, but we'll go all out to win it. South Haven is quick and strong on the boards. They'll be real tough. It should be a whale of a game."

The Lancers beat the Rams 81-78 in a December 4 contest at Lakeshore's gym.

The Eddies Friday night gave the Lancers all they could handle in the first half. But the winners got their fast break in high gear in the second half to drive the Eddies right out of the gym.

Leading only 42-40 with 5:45 left in the third quarter, Lakeshore reeled off 12 straight points to dash any hopes Edwardsburg had of springing an upset.

Guard Bruce Arter sparked the 12-point outburst with three consecutive fast-break buckets.

The Eddies' poor passing — nine ball control errors—also helped the Lancers in the third quarter, in which they outscored Edwardsburg 26-12.

"We finally got our quick break working for us in that third quarter," added MacTavish. "Greg Agens and Mark Bobinski did great jobs as substitutes."

Balance scoring, which has been a Lancer trademark all season, once again was evident Friday night.

Lakeshore put five players in twin figures. Charles Shafer, although sitting out all of the second quarter and all but a minute of the third period due to fouling woes, tossed in 16 points, brother Bud Shafer had 15, Arter 14, Agens 13 and Jeff Hardke 12.

For the 6-1 forward Agens, who was filling in for Charles Shafer, the 13 points was his season's high.

Rick Farrow, who was the leading Lancer scorer with a 19.9 average going into the game, hit only three of 14 shots from the field and finished with eight points. But he received more than enough scoring help from his friends.

Center Dave Delinski and guard Don Mark sparked a fine first-half performance by the Eddies, who have now lost 12 in a row to the Lancers.

Delinski tallied 13 of his 19 points in the first two quarters, including four straight baskets, while Mark hit 12 of his 16 points in the first half.

The Eddies, after trailing throughout the first quarter, finally took the lead midway through the second period but the Lancers ran off eight consecutive points to earn a 34-28 edge with 3:20 remaining. Lakeshore took a 38-34 lead at intermission.

Both Delinski and Mark cooled off in the third quarter and their teammates couldn't take up the scoring slack.

"Those floor mistakes just killed us in the third quarter," noted Edwardsburg mentor Steve Lemme. "They got their fast break working and at one stretch we threw the ball away three straight times.

"I thought we played a fine first half. But we just couldn't do anything right in that second half."

Lakeshore held a 54-44 advantage on the boards, according to Lancer charts. Charles Shafer hauled down 18 and Hardke was credited with 14 rebounds.

The Lancers ended with a 39 per cent shooting average (35 of 89) to the Eddies' 36 per cent (25 of 69). The Lancers canned 23 of 33 free throws to Edwardsburg's poor 10 of 27.

Lakeshore had 14 turnovers, only two in the second half, while the Eddies had 25, 15 coming in the last two periods.

The Lancers, 16th in the latest Class B ratings, are now 7-1 overall while Edwardsburg is 2-3 in Bud play and 3-6 overall.

The junior varsity contest was also won by the Lancers, 83-63. Larry Livengood swished 24 and Dan Stacey 19 for Lakeshore while Randy Strand popped in 22 for the Eddies.

Drake Too Much For Buchanan

BUCHANAN — Brandywine's Leonard Drake continued his hot shooting here Friday night.

The 6-2 forward, who tallied 54 points last Friday against Lakeshore, dumped in 38 points — including all of the Bobcats' eight overtime points — to spark Brandywine to an 89-85 Blossomland league win over Buchanan.

The Bucks' Steve Kingery sank two free throws in a one-and-one situation after the gun had sounded to send the contest into overtime. Those were his only two points of the game.

But it was all Drake in the overtime as he tallied three buckets and two free throws. The Bucks could only manage four, of eight foul shots and didn't sink a bucket.

"We just couldn't stop Drake in that overtime period," said Buck coach Don Rennback. "I couldn't find anyone tall enough to guard him. Three of my starters fouled out in regulation."

Buck forward Dave Zdenahlik was brilliant in defeat. He hit 38 points, 23 in the first half, before fouling out with a minute left in regulation time.

Robin Knapp added 27 points and Charles Drake 10 for Brandywine. Steve Glossinger had 15 and George Dreitzler 13 for the Bucks.

Both teams canned 31 field goals but Brandywine hit 27 free throws to 23 for Buchanan.

Brandywine, which lost four players to fouls as did Buchanan, is now 3-2 in Bud play and Buchanan 2-3.

Brandywine also won the junior varsity tilt.
